

Whig Nominations.

FOR GOVERNOR.
JOSIAH CHATIN,
of Providence.

FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.
ROWSE HADCOCK, of Westerly.

FOR SECRETARY OF STATE.
CHRISTOPHER E. ROBBINS,
of Providence.

FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL.
JOSEPH M. BLAKE, of Bristol.

FOR GENERAL TREASURER.
SAMUEL A. PARKER,
of Newport.

FOR MEMBERS OF CONGRESS.
EASTERN DISTRICT.
GEORGE G. KING,
of Newport.

WESTERN DISTRICT.
CHARLES JACKSON, of Scituate.

Certificate Voters.

Whig electors qualified to vote on certificates, are requested to leave their names at this office, with a memorandum of the towns in which they vote and the towns from which they wish certificates.

The story in circulation in this town that the Hon. George G. King was opposed to the passage of the Fortification Bill, is a pure locofoco falsehood. The Bill had no warmer or truer friend in Congress than Mr. King, and he did all in his power to procure its passage; and the Bill was finally lost in consequence of opposition to it from men who belong to the very party with those who are making this false charge in this town. On all occasions during both sessions of the last Congress, Mr. King was ever vigilant for the interests of his constituents, and by his influence and votes sustained such measures as the welfare of Rhode Island had required. Mr. King is a safe, conservative man, who stands by the Union, and is true in all things to the Whig party. And we know that the electors of the Eastern District have such confidence in him, that they will return him again by an overwhelming majority. He enjoys the respect of all, and will receive a marked token of this on the polls on Wednesday next.

We are glad to learn that our good-hearted friend Norman, of the Newport News, has been admitted to the Bar. We hear of him from the Surrogate's office in New York, where he is represented as an attorney, who wanted a copy of a certain bond to be used before one of the courts in this State in a case in which he was counsel. Our friend has unquestionably distinguished himself, more than ordinary, in one branch of the business, and some folks think the profession should take notice of the profession.

We are glad to find that the editor of the Post is getting a little good-natured, and that he has worked off his ill-feeling, and can now discuss a subject in a cool and rational way. Whatever the Post has heard from the Surrogate's office, he has not heard that Mr. Norman made any such representations as he charges. Even if he had, he did not "swear to them," but if he had done this, it would simply have been a "matter of form," a "mere business transaction," which lawyers doing business in New York and residing in New Jersey, do every day.

Newport News, in its search for long facts in the case of Mr. Lawrence, has found a New York Directory in which Mr. Lawrence's residence is put down at 493 Broadway. It isn't stated that Mr. Lawrence made oath to the Directory, but we have no doubt this will be stated in the Whig hand-bills. — Prov. Post.

We are unable to say whether he made oath to it or not; if he did, we presume it was "merely a business transaction," similar to the matter of the Bond. The Post is careful not to inform its readers that the New York Directory for this year places Mr. Lawrence's office at 27 Wallstreet. How is this?

Capitan William B. Whitehead has been ordered to the command of the Cutter Jackson, on this station.

THE CARPET BAG.—This is the title of the last new paper in Boston, that has been placed on our table the present week. The Carpet Bag is neatly got up, and is to be used as the organ of Mrs. Partington; and with the simple-hearted old lady on one side, and the fiery Mrs. Swizzle on the other, the "Woman's Rights" party is evidently looking up. We may yet see a President of the United States in petticoats.

It will be remembered (says the Boston Transcript) that, in a recent debate in the United States House of Representatives, Mr. Ashmun, of Massachusetts, remarked, in reference to Mr. Allen:—"But the gentleman says he is frank, open and manly. Does he not publish private confidential letters of Charles Hudson?" To which Mr. Allen, in his seat, replied:—"No, sir; no, sir; you are a—relief you say that I do." "Whether you do or not," returned Mr. Ashmun, "Charles Hudson can say. He is pretty well known in this House, and his veracity can probably be trusted." Immediately after this debate, Mr. Ashmun wrote to Mr. Hudson to inquire whether the statement was true or false, and received the following telegraphic despatch: Boston, March 3, 1851.

Hon. George Ashmun:—I wrote a confidential letter to Hon. Charles Allen just before the Philadelphia Convention, in 1848. He read the letter in a public meeting at Worcester, and published it in the Worcester Spy. CHARLES HUDSON.

MATERIALS FOR FRENCH HISTORY.—We learn from the Boston Advertiser that B. Perley Poore, Esq., has received a commission from the French Government to perform a similar service in this country for that Government to that which he did for our State Government in France. He is made an agent of France to collect and copy from the archives of the United States and our State Governments, and those of Canada, any papers relating to French history which have not heretofore been made public.

THE POTATO ROT.—The resolve passed by our Legislature, offering a reward of $10,000 for a remedy for the Potato Rot, has been approved by the Governor. The offer extends to any person within this Commonwealth, who shall satisfy the Governor and Council that, by a test of five successive years, he has discovered a sure and practical remedy for the Potato Rot. The offer is a very liberal one; more so, perhaps, than it would have been if there had been the least probability that it ever would be paid. — Bost. Trav.

George Thompson is severely censured by the English papers for absenting himself from his Parliamentary duties. The electors of the Tower Hamlets are quite dissatisfied with his conduct. The London Standard notices the complaints made by a portion of the constituency, and remarks that Mr. Thompson is too fond of running away from the House of Commons to make speeches elsewhere, where his reputation is much more gratifying to his pride than the cool indifference with which he is listened to in that assembly.

It is announced that a scientific physician in Paris has just discovered a method of curing instantaneously, and without disturbing any organ, all Neuralgic affections of the head, attacks of migraine, and pains resulting from teeth in an advanced state of decay. What renders this discovery truly marvellous is the promptness, at once, of the cure, and its perfect success in more than two hundred cases.

In the Commonwealth of Virginia there are nearly eighty-three thousand white persons who cannot read and write.

We are indebted to the Hon. John H. Clarke for valuable Public Documents.

The New York Herald's Washington correspondent states that Greenough, the brother of the sculptor, has preferred a charge to the Secretary of the Interior, that Mr. Evbank has paid for the publication of his long defense out of the Patent Office fund.

The Boston Atlas declares that the President's Proclamation has struck a very serious blow at the commerce and trade of that city. Now isn't this rich? A fellow once undertook to rob his neighbor's hen-coop or wood pile—we forget which, but it is not material. Stumbling with a load of the plunder across his victim's premises, he fell into an open well, broke his shins, and thereupon sued his neighbor for damages. This was cool—but it strikes us that the Atlas is a little cooler. — Florida Sentinel.

New York, 27th P. M.
The Canada is at Halifax.

The Annapolis Dinner.

The Hon. Daniel Webster and his Lady arrived here on Monday afternoon, and had an enthusiastic welcome from the citizens. All day yesterday he received visits from a large number of persons anxious to see the great defender of the Constitution and the Union.

In the evening the dinner tendered to him by the delegates of the State Convention, took place at the City Hall, kept by Col. Walton. It was a sumptuous feast, and was attended by all the distinguished men in the city. The best of feeling prevailed, and the various toasts were received with enthusiasm.

The following regular toast called forth the loudest and most prolonged applause:—

Daniel Webster—Maryland shows her attachment to the Union by honoring its able defender. After the cheering had subsided, Mr. Webster rose and said—"that he appreciated from his heart the honor which had been conferred upon him by the Representatives of the people of Maryland—one of the glorious constellation of States which had stood up together in the times that tried men's souls, to achieve the independence of which we are now the recipients, and which he trusted we should long continue to enjoy."

Mr. Webster referred to the early history of the country, and said we could not too fully appreciate the blessings handed down to us from our forefathers.

Washington, with all his sagacity and all his wisdom, did not conceive that the destiny of the United States had been reached, nor did he, when he retired from the Presidential chair, cease to fix his eyes upon the interests of his country.

Washington, in his farewell address, said, "he retired from the chair, having performed the work which he had been called upon to perform." But said Mr. W., emphatically, he has never yet performed the work assigned him, nor will he, until the end of time. He will talk ever in the sacred work, until the end of time, unless his name is obliterated from its records.

After dwelling at some length upon the character and services of Washington, Mr. W. said he hoped he should be pardoned for interrupting the thread of his discourse at this moment, by proposing, from the fullness of his heart, the following toast:—

"The glorious and immortal Washington!"

This was drunk standing and in silence. Mr. W. then resumed his remarks: In the lapse of years, said he, it may very possibly happen that the exact principle of Union may not always be understood alike, and it would not therefore be amiss to refer to the objects for which the Colonies were united. The limitation assigned to them, and the principles which should govern for their perpetuation.

Mr. W. then entered at some considerable length into a review of the general principles which had induced the colonies to throw off the yoke of allegiance to Great Britain, and dwelt upon the various causes which led them to confederate together. He said they were governed by a spirit of liberality and justice, which actuated both North and South, and the good faith with which parties entered into the compact part of confederation was the great cause which led to the recovery of the independence which we now enjoy.

At that period the North and South were, as now, governed by different systems, but each section was willing that the other should not have their peculiar rights and privileges interfered with, but they should be governed in such a manner as would best enhance and protect the rights of all.

The North at that time was perfectly aware of the existence of slavery at the South; and although there might be some who deprecated the state of things yet they were perfectly satisfied to accept the South as a sister and to take her to their embrace. The obligations to keep that contract are as great now as then; and it should, and he had no doubt it would be, strictly adhered to.

Mr. W. then spoke of the adoption of the compromise measures, and said he looked upon them as the great saving point upon the agitators who would rise to dissolve this glorious Union.

Every State, said Mr. Webster, emphatically, North or South, which departs the least from the spirit of these measures, is disloyal. (Loud, prolonged cheering.)

We have had at the North some excitement on the great agitating question of the day; we have seen also at the South something of the same excitement, and secession from the Union was threatened by some as a remedy from three imaginary evils. What said Mr. W., will they succeed? Where will they succeed to? He thought that they who talked of secession had a great faculty of mind; that their minds were greatly deceived; and in the language of Holy Writ, they know not what they do. (Much applause.)

While we maintain inviolate the adjustment of the last congress, we will hold no party with those who seek to break down the bulwarks with which they are surrounded, and while we fully carry out the principles of those measures, there is no fear of the glorious Union. (Great cheering.) He held that the strict carrying out of those measures to be of the highest importance, and every energy of every true citizen should be bent in order to secure their full accomplishment. (Loud applause.)

Mr. Webster continued as follows: Mr. President, I may not have been born to fulfill any particular destiny, I may not have any particular mission to fill on earth, but this I will say, I am bound to uphold, with every energy of mind and body, the constitution of this country. (Immense applause.)

Mr. W. referred in eloquent terms to the celebration which was held in the city of Annapolis, on the occasion when Washington resigned and delivered up his sword and commission to the American Congress, and said that that occasion was one that lived long in the memory of all Americans, for the patriotic sentiments which it brought forth.

The second toast drank on that occasion, and which was received with so much feeling and gratification was in the following words:—

The United States—May their confederacy endure forever.

Mr. Webster said that he would in conclusion, give a sentiment, though with some slight difference of language: The Constitution of the United States—May it endure forever.

This toast was drunk, and Mr. Webster sat down amidst much applause.

The Whigs of Providence have made the following nominations for the General Assembly:—

For Senator—General Albert C. Greene.

For Representatives—Stephen T. Olney, Leonard Blodget, Henry Anthony, William H. Potter, Allen C. Mathewson, James T. Rhodes, George S. Rathbone, Amos C. Barstow, Daniel E. Carpenter, Samuel Curry, Thomas J. Stead, and Christopher G. Potter.

The Macfarland Troupe, performed last evening to a delighted audience. The performance gave great satisfaction.

"Those who laugh then, who never laughed before, And those who always laughed, but laughed no more."

O'CONNELL'S REMAINS.—A correspondent notices a fugitive and improbable paragraph, headed "Glory," going the rounds of the press, in reference to the remains of the great Irish liberator being held in pledge by the proprietors of a burying ground for the expenses of bringing them from Genoa, and says:—

"I have been most intimately acquainted with him and every member of his noble family. I have also had the gratification of seeing his precious remains entombed in its final resting place, Glasnevin Cemetery, Dublin. I could also assert, were it necessary, that his mortal remains were deposited there in accordance with the express solicitation of the committee of the county, and of the citizens of Dublin at large, of every sect and party."

SUPPOSED WRECK.—It is thought that the wrecked staff, recently seen off Nantuxet, may have belonged to the packet ship Ivanhoe, which sailed from New York on the 22d of February, for Liverpool. The Ivanhoe had flour marked S. C., in a diamond, and all her ears, blocks, &c., were branded "Ivanhoe." Barrels of flour, and ears picked up, bear these same marks. The Ivanhoe was a good vessel, 1155 tons burthen, and was built in 1847.

Priests from Europe.—There arrived in New York in the Helvetia, from Havre, on Thursday last, the Very Reverend Father Bernard, Provincial of the Redemptorists in the Province of Baltimore, with two American Fathers—Hecker and Walworth—and seven others of the same order.

MARRIED.

February 17th, 1851, by the Rev. Mr. Barlow, Chaplain U. S. N., on board U. S. frigate Independence, Bas of Naples, Mr. Wm. R. Ballard, of New York, and Signora Angelica D. Deo, of Naples.

DIED.

In Seckonk 1231 Ave. John Decker, aged 69. In Providence, on Tuesday, very suddenly, Mrs. Mary K. Anthony, widow of the late William Anthony of Coventry, and mother of his Excellency the Governor of this State, aged 65 years.

At Toronto, Canada, 5th inst., the Mother Superior of the Convent in that city. She was born at Kilkenny, Ireland, on the 14th February, 1813. Her name was Anna Theresa Hutchinson, or, in religion, Mother M. Ignatia.

On Thursday last, at her residence in Washington, after a brief illness, Malvina Carvill, the excellent and universally respected consort of Gen. Malvina Carvill, the esteemed minister of the republic of Chili.

CLOTHS. A Superior lot of Black, Blue, Brown, and Green, and a large lot of Cold Cloth of all colors, for sale at

D. J. & N. H. GOULD.

Marine Intelligence.

PORT OF NEWPORT.

ARRIVED.

THURSDAY, March 27.
Schr Anna G. Hatell, Kaul, Prot, Phila.; J. Y. Baker, Higgins, Boston, Norfolk; Express, Horton, do, do.
Shoon Sea Witch, Wells, Prot, N. Y.; Simon P. Cole, Gage, do, Va.; Vigilant, Wells, do; Thomas Hull, Hull, do, N. Y.

FRENCH TEACHER WANTED.

A French language, to two young ladies who have already received some instruction. Any teacher, male or female, who may desire pupils, will please apply at this office.

NEW BONNETS.

A Case of Bonnets of the latest style and lowest prices; just received and for sale by JAMES HAMMOND.

WANTED.

A good second-hand Steam Engine, of 8 horse power, or larger, with a large Boiler. Address "SIMON MOFFITT, Newport, R. I."

SUMMER RESIDENCE TO LET.

THE house at the Harrison farm, at the foot of the harbor, in this town. The house is delightfully located for a summer residence, and is constantly lanned by a sea-breeze. It contains from 12 to 16 rooms, and is in good order. It is located one mile from the compact part of the town and there is a road leading to it, which is in excellent driving order. There are all the necessary conveniences in and around the house, and the bathing on the shore around it, is not surpassed at any point on this Island. It will be let to a private family, or as a boarding house for the season. Persons desiring to hire this fine establishment should apply at once to the subscriber.

JOSHUA SAYER.

RECEIVED this day a Prime lot of 4 and 6

Timed insurance Forks.

A. H. STEVENS.

156 Thames st.

NEW GOODS.

A Large, Choice and Cheap Lot of Cloths, Cassimeres and Vestings of New Styles, which we will take up or sell by the yard, at prices that cannot fail to suit.

D. J. & N. H. GOULD.

70 Thames St.

DROPPED IN AT RIDERS, 171 Thames st.,

and last of his very Canton Cider, it is decidedly the richest preserve ever imported.

CHAMPAGNE Cider, in qt., bottles, just received and for sale at.

mar 27.

WANTED.

A smart active man, acquainted with farming and gardening, apply to mar 26 1 w.

WM. YERNON.

AUCTION, On Saturday next at 9 o'clock, A. M.,

at the Market Square will be sold at Public Auction: 8 half Kegs Butter, 300 pounds hand Soap, 20 Pen Knives, Window Glass, Spices, Stone Mortar, Iron Ware, Second hand Clothing, Cotton Hdkfs, Trunks, 20 yards 1 1/4 Linen Sertings, about 300 feet of Good Merchandise. Bards Placed on one Side. Lot of Lumber and other articles. Sales positive. Conditions Cash.

mar 27. St.

M. HALL, Auction.

LIFE ASSURANCE.

ATNA INSURANCE CO., HARTFORD

CONN. ANNUITY FUND, $150,000.

Safety—Stability—Economy.

THIS long established and well known company, having organized a department for life assurance, with an entirely distinct and exclusively pledged with its reserved accumulations for the payment of losses upon life insurance only, is prepared to issue policies on lives at rates materially reduced from those charged by the mutual companies, and as low as is consistent with ultimate safety. The system adopted by this company is to ascertain precisely what it is worth to insure a certain amount upon a life, and to charge precisely that sum and no more; and to require a larger premium than is actually required for the purpose, with the promise of returning, under the desired name of profits or dividends, the excess of premium which might never to have been taken. It is attended with none of those vexatious contingencies which are inseparable from the mutual system; it is perfectly simple as well as uniform and equal in all its operations.

Policies will be granted in the usual form, payable after death, or upon the party's arriving at the age of 40, 45, 50, 55, or 60, at his option; in either case free from the claims of creditors. The usual extra risks will be assumed by the company at reasonable rates.

Tables of Assurance for each Hundred Dollars on a single Life.

Age.	Annual Payment for term of Life.	Annual Payment for term of 1 year.	Age.	Annual Payment for term of Life.	Annual Payment for term of 1 year.
10	1.03	69	49	36	2.20
11	1.07	62	50	37	2.27
12	1.10	55	51	38	2.33
13	1.13	48	52	39	2.40
14	1.17	41	53	40	2.47
15	1.20	34	54	41	2.55
16	1.23	27	55	42	2.63
17	1.26	20	56	43	2.70
18	1.29	13	57	44	2.78
19	1.33	7	58	45	2.85
20	1.36	0	59	46	2.93
21	1.40	52	60	47	3.01
22	1.44	45	61	48	3.10
23	1.48	38	62	49	3.18
24	1.53	30	63	50	3.27
25	1.58	23	64	51	3.37
26	1.63	15	65	52	3.48
27	1.68	8	66	53	3.59
28	1.74	0	67	54	3.71
29	1.79	10	68	55	3.83
30	1.85	12	69	56	3.96
31	1.91	13	70	57	4.10
32	1.97	14	71	58	4.25
33	2.03	15	72	59	4.41
34	2.09	16	73	60	4.58
35	2.15	17	74	61	4.76
36	2.21	18	75	62	4.95
37	2.27	19	76	63	5.15
38	2.33	20	77	64	5.36
39	2.39	21	78	65	5.58
40	2.45	22	79	66	5.81
41	2.51	23	80	67	6.05
42	2.57	24	81	68	6.30
43	2.63	25	82	69	6.56
44	2.69	26	83	70	6.83
45	2.75	27	84	71	7.11
46	2.81	28	85	72	7.40
47	2.87	29	86	73	7.70
48	2.93	30	87	74	8.01
49	3.00	31	88	75	8.33
50	3.06	32	89	76	8.66
51	3.12	33	90	77	9.00
52	3.18	34	91	78	9.35
53	3.24	35	92	79	9.71
54	3.30	36	93	80	10.08
55	3.36	37	94	81	10.46
56	3.42	38	95	82	10.85
57	3.48	39	96	83	11.25
58	3.54	40	97	84	11.66
59	3.60	41	98	85	12.08
60	3.66	42	99	86	12.51
61	3.72	43	100	87	12.95
62	3.78	44		88	13.40
63	3.84	45		89	13.86
64	3.90	46		90	14.33
65	3.96	47		91	14.81
66	4.02	48		92	15.30
67	4.08	49		93	15.80
68	4.14	50		94	16.31
69	4.20	51		95	16.83
70	4.26	52		96	17.36
71	4.32	53		97	17.90
72	4.38	54		98	18.45
73	4.44	55		99	19.01
74	4.50	56		100	19.58

Pamphlets, containing rates of premium and information in relation to the plan of operations, and all papers necessary to effect insurance, may be obtained of the agent for the company, at the Daily News office 121 Thames Street, Newport.

GEO. H. NORMAN, Agent.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

A good horse, harness and Express wagon, for sale.

NEWTON BROTHERS.

R. R. HAZARD & CO.